ABOUT ME

Hello! I'm a surveyor by profession but a few months ago I decided to change my job and started learning manual software testing. I have knowledge in the field of ISTQB – Basic Level and I would like to obtain a Certificate in near future.

My professional experience in geodesy allowed me to improve such features as precise, patience and cooperation with colleagues. In addition, I'm willing to learn and develop new skills.

Before I decided to manual software testing I had got interested in programming. I created some simple projects that I could use in creating test cases and bug reports.
